What We Do

Designing a personalized physical therapy program that helps you restore movement, reduce pain and reach your treatment goals is our primary focus. When you have a comprehensive program that is proven effective at strengthening key muscle and joint formations, you ensure program effectiveness in preventing future injury.

Our programs are designed to make you feel stronger, fitter and more prepared to take on whatever physical challenges may or may not be present in your life. Physical therapy can greatly reduce pain and diminish the need for addictive prescription drugs that may lead to additional health obstacles in the future.

Let Us Work for You

- We have experience. Let us use it. We offer physical therapy that is tailored to each person and each injury. We understand that every "body" is different and so is every injury. Finding the right program to optimize your results is one of the first things we complete when you chose our office.

- Identifying Your Treatment Goals

- Our physical therapy professionals work with you to develop a treatment plan that identifies your goals and your expectations of a physical therapy program. We believe physical pain and lack of mobility ARE NOT reasonable conditions to live with day-to-day. You've already experienced the trauma of the initial injury, why should you suffer through depression and stagnation too?
